TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — A car carrying four Willard High School pupils slammed head-on into a school bus near Attica Friday night, killing all four youths in the car, the highway patrol reported.

Killed were James Robinson, 19, Jerry Layne, 17, Stephen Elminger, 18, and Arthur Watts 17.

Bus driver Delbert Price, about 50, a Republic student and a 22-year-old Republic man, Julian Bordner, were taken to Tiffin Mercy Hospital. Only Bordner was kept at the hospital.

The highway patrol said the car hit the bus so hard the bus grill was pushed in about four feet.

Two wreckers were used to pull the car apart so the bodies of the four occupants could be removed.

The Republic bus was returning from a basketball game in Attica when the collision occurred on U.S. 224 about two miles west of Attica.

The Willard youths may have been returning from a basketball game at Tiffin Columbian, patrolmen said.

LBJ Assessment Of Asian Crisis Brings Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's assessment that the Viet Cong uprising this week failed to achieve its military and psychological goals in South Vietnam is challenged by congressional critics of his war policies.

But Congress members who favor those policies gave the President solid backing for his statement at a Friday news conference that the Communists had lost an attempt to overthrow the Saigon government and force the United States to accept a coalition regime.

At his news session, Johnson said new efforts to get back the intelligence ship Pueblo and her 83-man crew have failed. He said there had been further meetings on the Pueblo seizure between representatives of North Korea and the United States without satisfactory results.

Johnson said that while he didn't want to seem "unduly optimistic," when all the details of the raids are known he doesn't believe the Viet Cong "will achieve a psychological victory."

But Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said in an interview: "If this is failure, I hope the Viet Cong never have a major success."

On other matters, Johnson said: "Reports from North Korea and neutral nations are that the Pueblo crew is being treated well with the wounded receiving treatment and 'the body of the man who died is being held.' He gave no other details.

While additional deployment of combat troops to Vietnam is always possible, "we have added the men that Gen. Westmoreland has felt to be desirable and necessary." There are about 482,000 Americans there now, with a total commitment of 525,000 men, previously scheduled, to be accomplished by June 30.

He has no evidence the new raids in South Vietnam are connected with the Pueblo seizure but that experts he's talked with believe there is a definite connection.

Assurances of adequate water were among the key factors in the decision for a $75 million Standard Oil Co. of Ohio refinery expansion at Lima.

The state plan calls for construction of the 610-acre lake to start this year and be completed by 1970. It is being designed as a multi-purpose project and will be built by the City of Lima with state assistance.

Another 560-acre reservoir is scheduled in the same area for 1965, or sooner if water demand requires it, using the Auglaize River to feed both reservoirs.

The new Spencerville reservoir will store five billion gallons of water and will cost about $5 million.

Allen County Reservoir Work Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fred E. Morr, director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Saturday asked for "full speed ahead" in construction of a large Allen County reservoir.

The reservoir, near Spencerville, is being designed as part of Gov. James A. Rhodes' Northwest Ohio Water Development Program.

"We're giving this project a top priority because timing is important," Morr said. "We want the necessary water supply available when a new industrial complex is completed in the Lima area."

South Korea Wants More U.S. Troops

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea has formally asked the United States for more American troops to guard against invasion, government sources said today. There were hints Korea might consider withdrawing its forces from Vietnam if the appeal was turned down.

Since the U.S. intelligence ship was seized Jan. 23 by North Korea there have been reports that two American divisions might be sent to Korea to reinforce the 50,000 U.S. troops now stationed there.

The Korean sources said the government is also seeking troops from its 15 other Korean War allies and that Foreign Minister Cho Kyuhah had sounded out the ambassadors of France, Australia and Turkey on the subject.

The chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the Korean National Assembly, Park Choon-ky, said that unless the United States deals with North Korea "resolutely and forcefully," the government should consider pulling out its 46,000 fighting men in Vietnam.

A U.N. spokesman announced today that the Panmunjom area, jointly controlled by the command and North Korea, would now be closed to newsmen, contrary to past practice.

White Eyes Senate Race With Glee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — William L. White of Mount Vernon is a successful businessman who has sought election to public office in Ohio without a victory for the past 20 years. Before that he ran unsuccessfully for governor of Kansas.

But at age 72, White is as enthusiastic as ever in bidding for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senator in the May 7 primary election.

In filing petitions carrying 1,675 signatures obtained in 58 counties, White promised a fight, if elected, "do undo the devastating harm 'big daddy bird' has done," a reference to President Johnson.

White's first bid for public office in Ohio was for governor in 1948 on the Republican ticket. Two years later while residing in Newark he ran for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

After moving to Mount Vernon and returning to the Republican fold, White ran for state senator in 1960 and for governor again in 1962. Then came the Congress-at-large bid in 1964 and another try for governor in 1966.

Albert Payne, Springfield industrialist, has indicated he may make it a three-way GOP senatorial race. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe is the favorite.

The Republican nominee will face the winner of the Democratic contest between incumbent Sen. Frank J. Lausche, also 72, and former congressman John J. Gilligan, 46, Cincinnati councilman.

Political Fronts Are Active From East Coast to Pacific

The two major announced candidates for the Republican presidential nomination are trudging through the snows of important primary states—

George Romney in Wisconsin and Richard M. Nixon in New Hampshire.

Romney milked a cow at Oshkosh Friday, pumped voters' hands in towns in the Fox River Valley and along Lake Michigan, and said "I didn't want to be president unless he was helped by the people. Nixon visited New Hampshire for the first time since he became an official candidate and outlined his primary campaign plans.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey spoke at a Democratic gathering in Omaha, Neb., advising his party not to stand on social gains of the last few years because "tomorrow is what counts with the voter."

Humphrey expressed optimism about the party's future "because the unfinished business of America has always been the business of Democrats."

Elsewhere on the political scene:

—Nixon told the Manchester news conference that Florida Gov. Claude Kirk had informed him he'd withdraw his name from the New Hampshire presidential primary ballot.

But a spokesman for Kirk wouldn't confirm Nixon's remarks, saying Kirk will withhold comment until he makes a speech in New Hampshire later this month.

—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination in opposition to President Johnson's Vietnam policy, said in Portland, Ore., that if peace talks don't develop the United States should make a "phased drawback" in Vietnam.

—Spokesmen for former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, an expected third-party candidate, said organizational meetings will be held next week in a bid to get his name on Pennsylvania's ballot. They also said he has decided to seek a ballot position in Missouri's August primary.

—Former child movie star Shirley Temple Black said she won't run in June against Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Calif., who defeated her attempt to win a GOP congressional nomination last November.

McCloskey is serving out an unexpired term and must run in June's GOP primary in a bid for a full term.

North Korea Puts Out 'Confession'

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea today quoted what it called a "confession" by the research officer of the captured U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo in which he apologized for its intrusion into North Korea waters, begged for release, and said the Johnson administration "forced me to commit such a crime."

North Korea's Korean Central News Agency identified the officer as Lt. Robert Stephen Harris, 29, of Melrose, Mass. It said he admitted espionage "deep in the coastal waters" of North Korea aboard the Pueblo until it was seized by Communist gun boats Jan. 23. The United States has maintained the vessel was operating on the high seas.

The account, which said members of the 83-man crew were being well treated, ended with this assertion: "It was a very dirty crime that I committed in the sea of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, though I, as a military man, had merely obeyed the orders of my commander. Now I realize what a serious crime I committed. It is the Johnson administration and my commanders that forced me to commit such a crime. I hate them. I deeply repent and sincerely apologize to the government of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea for my criminal acts. I beg of you to forgive me my crime."

Prisoners Riot In Kansas Jail

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — The sheriff's office said today it has sealed off the fifth floor of the courthouse where 26 prisoners in the Reno County Jail bullpen have been rioting since Friday.

Officers said the inmates burned magazines, broke light bulbs, threw objects at jailers, and flooded the floor by stuffing toilets with waste paper.

It depends on the girl," the spokesman said.

Most Areas Still in State Of Confusion

SAIGON (AP) — Fighting subsided in Saigon today but still raged in Hue and the Communists pressed their biggest offensive of the war into a fifth day with fresh attacks on at least eight other cities.

Enemy gunners also opened up with the heaviest artillery bombardment in several weeks along South Vietnam's northern frontier, where U.S. troops are watching tensely in what they call "the big wait." Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, has said the next phase of the enemy's plans is a major assault in the north.

In the current phase—attacks against government cities—a senior American official said the Communists threw 36,000 men against 35 populated centers. The enemy suffered a "substantial military defeat," he said, but still has the "capacity for a second wave of attacks."

If the senior official's figure of 36,000 enemy attackers is correct, the U.S. casualty count shows that the enemy already has lost more than one third of its attack force. Headquarters reported that over the past five days allied forces killed 12,704 Communist troops by body count in the heaviest week of fighting in the war.

It said 3,576 Communist suspects have been captured and 1,814 weapons seized.

Allied losses for the same period were put at 983 killed and 3,483 wounded. These included 318 American dead and 1,639 wounded.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese rangers said they captured a 16-year-old girl who had been firing a machine gun at U.S. military jeeps in a skirmish near the American post exchange in Cholon, the Chinese sector.

U.S. officers said for the most part, allied forces were searching for Communist troops around Saigon and had failed to find them. But Vietnamese marines clashed sharply with a group of Viet Cong apparently on the run about four miles north of Saigon.

At Hue, the old imperial capital which has been under siege since Wednesday, South Vietnamese troops reported recapturing the airfield inside the city's walled citadel. The U.S. Command said at least two Communist companies—perhaps 300 men—still are in the citadel.

Brig. Gen. John Chasson, director of U.S. military operations in South Vietnam, said the fighting was still in progress.

Deceit, Surprise Basis of Viet Red City Offensive

By PETER ARNETT Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong commandos who stormed the U.S. Embassy Wednesday rode into Saigon concealed in a truckload of flowers.

Like the Greek soldiers who hid in a wooden horse to enter Troy, Viet Cong employed deceit and surprise to launch their attack—two tactics as old as war itself.

Hiding under the blooms on flower trucks was but one method used to infiltrate a city happily preparing to embark on the annual celebration of Tet, the Vietnamese lunar new year and traditionally a time of peace and tranquility.

The Viet Cong arrived in provincial buses, in taxis, on motor scooters and by foot. They easily entered a wide open city.

Only on one previous occasion has the Vietnamese Tet been so rudely violated. That was in 1789 by Gen. Nguyen Hue. He was a Vietnamese patriot who, celebrating Tet with his army five days early, marched 300 miles up the central Vietnamese coast, and routed a Chinese invasion force that presumed he would be holidaying like the rest of the country.

Gen. Nguyen Hue now is the greatest Vietnamese military hero. When the Communists started hammering the groggy city of Saigon Wednesday morning, the Vietnamese population remembered their history.

The Viet Cong announced they would honor a seven-day truce at Tet and the allies half believed them despite the Communist record of truce violations over the years.

But as the battle of Saigon continued into its fourth day Saturday, it became apparent that the major reason for the Viet Cong's successes in South Vietnam's capital was the painstaking organizational work in the months preceding the onslaught.

The fighting in the city has not been a hit and run affair. The past few days have shown that the Communist underground is as effective and all-pervading in Saigon as in the most contested hamlets in the countryside.

The commandos and Communist regulars who slipped into the city in the days before Tet were absorbed into the Saigon population by the underground like out-of-town relatives attending a family reunion. The Communists operate in Saigon in clandestine three-man cells.

These cells managed to secret 600 commandos and troops into Saigon, security men now know. None in this assault force brought weapons with them as they made their way into the city. The Communist infrastructure already had stockpiled arms, explosives and munitions in dozens of innocent-looking locales.

It depends on the girl," the spokesman said.

Esherrick Appeal Hearing Slated

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A hearing is set for 10:30 a.m. Monday in Lake County Common Pleas Court on an appeal for Fred Esherrick Jr., 16, who was convicted last December of the bayonet slaying of his father.

The appeal was filed Friday by Esherrick's attorney, John S. Nelson, and the hearing date set by Judge John F. Clair Jr., who sentenced the youth to die in the electric chair May 15.

Nelson said a woman juror expressed an opinion that the youth was guilty before the jury was selected.

Explain How Red Losses Are Counted

SAIGON (AP) — The allies' reports of Communist deaths in the big Red offensive—now 12,704 for 102 hours—are based on body counts "by units in action," the U.S. Command's chief of information said today.

American reports for the same period, 6 p.m. Monday to midnight Friday, list 318 American soldiers and 661 South Vietnamese troops killed.

The U.S. information chief, Brig. Gen. Winant Sidle, said that while the great bulk of the Communist dead have been claimed by government forces, "we have not yet broken down the numbers killed by the ARVN (South Vietnamese army) and those killed by U.S. forces."

Sidle said the casualty figures released in Saigon by the U.S. Command come from regular reports issued every six hours by American divisions. He said the body counts may be made by squad- or platoon-size units, "but never larger than company-size." This indicated, he said, that the figures did not result from "estimates or guesstimates."

Many high level U.S. officers are known to look with some doubt on South Vietnamese military reports of enemy killed. The government forces do not normally disclose their own casualties in numbers but refer to them in terms of "light" or "moderate."

8th-Grade Group Stages Protest

NEW YORK (AP) — Hundreds of eighth-grade pupils in a Brooklyn junior high school went on a rampage Friday following their demand for better cafeteria food, more freedom and more dances.

About 60 students first gathered outside J.S. 58 in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section before classes began.

AS the Feb. 7 deadline for filing nomination petitions for county offices nears, interest mounts in the coming May primary...

Indications now are there will be contested races for commissioner... Both Republicans and Democrats hope to have a full slate of candidates for the May Primary to assure political contests for the general election.

THE freezing and thawing weather is having a telling effect on city streets... Deep chuck holes are appearing on many of the secondary streets, requiring careful and slow driving on the part of motorists to save wear and tear on their cars.

DIETS are always quite a fad at the beginning of each year, but most are of short duration... Police dispatcher Louise Roach has lost so much weight the boys on the force are all calling her Twiggy... One local wag claims he goes on and off diets so frequently that he has to keep three sizes suits in his closet to be sure of a correct fit... For those dieters who have fallen by the wayside, the Lenten season begins Feb. 28, providing fresh reason to abstain from fattening foods.

Most Areas Still in State Of Confusion

SAIGON (AP) — Fighting subsided in Saigon today but still raged in Hue and the Communists pressed their biggest offense of the war into a fifth day with fresh attacks on at least eight other cities.

Enemy gunners also opened up with the heaviest artillery bombardment in several weeks along South Vietnam's northern frontier, where U.S. troops are watching tensely in what they call "the big wait." Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, has said the next phase of the enemy's plans is a major assault in the north.

In the current phase—attacks against government cities—a senior American official said the Communists threw 36,000 men against 35 populated centers. The enemy suffered a "substantial military defeat," he said, but still has the "capacity for a second wave of attacks."

If the senior official's figure of 36,000 enemy attackers is correct, the U.S. casualty count shows that the enemy already has lost more than one third of its attack force. Headquarters reported that over the past five days allied forces killed 12,704 Communist troops by body count in the heaviest week of fighting in the war.

It said 3,576 Communist suspects have been captured and 1,814 weapons seized.

Allied losses for the same period were put at 983 killed and 3,483 wounded. These included 318 American dead and 1,639 wounded.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese rangers said they captured a 16-year-old girl who had been firing a machine gun at U.S. military jeeps in a skirmish near the American post exchange in Cholon, the Chinese sector.

U.S. officers said for the most part, allied forces were searching for Communist troops around Saigon and had failed to find them. But Vietnamese marines clashed sharply with a group of Viet Cong apparently on the run about four miles north of Saigon.

At Hue, the old imperial capital which has been under siege since Wednesday, South Vietnamese troops reported recapturing the airfield inside the city's walled citadel. The U.S. Command said at least two Communist companies—perhaps 300 men—still are in the citadel.

Esherrick Appeal Hearing Slated

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A hearing is set for 10:30 a.m. Monday in Lake County Common Pleas Court on an appeal for Fred Esherrick Jr., 16, who was convicted last December of the bayonet slaying of his father.

The appeal was filed Friday by Esherrick's attorney, John S. Nelson, and the hearing date set by Judge John P. Clair Jr., who sentenced the youth to die in the electric chair May 15.

Nelson said a woman juror expressed an opinion that the youth was guilty before the jury was selected.

Herd Improvement Urged Before Expanding Stock

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Before a dairyman adds another cow to the herd, he should consider raising the production of the cows he already has.

Although this advice is not original, it is illustrated anew with computerized reports from the Dairy Herd Improvement Association. These figures are provided by 35,000 participants in the Standard Plan of record-keeping, supervised by specialists of the Association who visit each member farm monthly.

ARS dairy breeding specialist, R. H. Miller, who interprets the data for the Association, says that the best illustration of high profits from more productive cows can be taken from data on feed costs and gross income. Feed costs, Miller says, are roughly half the cost of production, so that income above feed costs provides an estimate of net income.

In Holstein herds averaging about 10,000 pounds of milk per cow, income above feed costs was $275 per cow in 1966; but in herds averaging about 15,000 pounds of milk, income above feed costs was $452 — a $177 difference. The 10,000-pound herds used $2.24 worth of feed to produce 100 pounds of milk, but the 15,000-pound herds used only $1.99 worth of feed.

ON A family farm, increasing production with the existing number of cows may be as good a way to improve income as materially expanding the herd size.

For example, Holstein herds in the Standard Plan averaging about 18,000 pounds of milk per cow had a higher gross income than herds averaging about 10,000 pounds of milk, yet the more efficient herds had 8 fewer cows milking. The higher-producing herds grossed $37,335 from 41 cows, $12,785 more than the 24,550 grossed by the lower-producing herds which averaged 49 cows. The difference came about largely because of better management, breeding, and feeding.

One aspect of management that can be evaluated directly from the Association records for 1966 is the ability of farmers to keep cows in production consistently.

A group of more than 16,000 farmers participating in the Standard Plan reported that their cows were in production about 85 per cent of the year and average 12,270 pounds of milk per cow. A group of 158 exceptional farmers, however, kept cows in production about 93 per cent of the year, and averaged 12,118 pounds of milk. In contrast, 138 below average farmers with cows in production averaged only 7,992 pounds of milk.

The farmers who achieved long milking periods and high production did so partly by devoting more time per cow because their herds were smaller. The herds with cows in milk 93 per cent of the year averaged 37 cows; herds with cows in milk 85 per cent of the year averaged 47 cows; herds with cows in milk 70 per cent of the year averaged 59 cows.

Feed Program Released by ASC

J. Austin Dowden, office manager of Pickaway County committee of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service announced that additional information has been received for the 1968 feed grain program.

Advance payments are authorized for producers who enroll in the 1968 feed grain program. The amount of such payment will be 50 per cent of the diversion payment to be earned.

Word has also been received that there will be no 1968 feed grain price support payment for soybeans planted in lieu of feed grains on permitted acreage.

Sign-up for the 1968 feed grain and wheat program starts Feb. 5 and runs through March 15, 1968. Each producer who is interested should contact the local office at 1440 North Court St. for further details.

Corn Moisture Test Problems Larger than Usual This Year

Variations in corn moisture testing have been much larger than usual this winter. Combined with low prices and handling problems, these variations have led to doubts about moisture testing procedures and business ethics. Disagreements have occurred between farmers and elevator operators.

Reports of these problems caused Ross Milner, Extension Grain Marketing Specialist at The Ohio State University, to investigate the accuracy of grain moisture testing machines. Here are the results of his study:

Under normal conditions, mechanical moisture meters have proved to be a dependable and sufficiently accurate method for testing moisture in grain being marketed.

However, when abnormal testing conditions exist, like we've had this year and last year, tests may be quite inaccurate.

First of all, getting a representative sample is quite difficult under the abnormal conditions which have existed. Frozen, high-moisture corn varies greatly in moisture content within a bushel, and even more within a load.

Secondly, under abnormal conditions, the test itself is much less dependable. Moisture meters have not yet been designed which accurately reflect the moisture content when grain is abnormal in (1) moisture, (2) temperature, or (3) mineral content at the time of the test.

As moisture content of grain exceeds about 25 per cent, moisture meter accuracy declines. Also, meters presently in use are designed to test grain only when each kernel, clear to its center, is at room temperature (Motomco meter, 77 degrees F.).

The warming process requires several minutes, even when high temperature is applied. The sample must be warmed in a moisture-proof bag or container, though, to prevent drying from taking place during the warming process. Virgil McNamee, chief inspector of grain at the Toledo Board of Trade, reports that it is the practice of his staff to hold frozen corn in sealed containers at room temperature for two or three hours before it is tested.

Even under ideal conditions, the meter reflects only an approximation of the moisture content. Actual moisture content of a sample can be determined only by weighing a sample, drying it in an oven, and weighing the corn after drying. This is such a slow method it is completely impractical except for checking mechanical meters and for research work. The moisture meter, therefore, is resorted to because it provides a quick method of estimating moisture content.

Variation in mineral content of grain is the other factor which can affect the reading of a moisture meter. In order to understand the cause of this, it's necessary to know how the testing device works.

A moisture meter responds to the rate at which electricity is conducted through a grain sample. The drier grain is, the more it resists the passage of electric current. By means of a chart, the measure of resistance is converted into percentage moisture in the grain.

Anything which affects the condition of the electric current also affects the results of the test. Compounds whose solutions conduct the electric current are called electrolytes.

Strangely, pure water doesn't conduct the electric current appreciably. However, when certain compounds are dissolved in water, or in high-moisture corn, their molecules fall apart into ions. The ions are either electrically positive or negative.

No all compounds ionize. For example, salt ionizes when dissolved in water and is a good conductor of electric current. However, sugar dissolved in water does not ionize and is therefore not a conductor of electricity.

Salts are compounds derived from acids by replacing the hydrogen of the acid with a metal. Minerals contain metal and therefore provide a replacement for hydrogen. The mineral content of yellow corn in the dent stage varies greatly, from 6-10 of one per cent to 2.6 per cent, and an average 1.3 per cent.

With all three of these variables — mineral content, moisture, and temperature — there were large percentage variations in tests during the winter corn harvest.

The USDA has a contract with Battelle Memorial Institute to develop a more dependable method of testing grain. You may conclude from the above discussion that finding an accurate tester for a season like this one will be a worthwhile achievement.

American Wheat Growers Asked To Use Controls

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—American wheat growers are being asked by the Johnson administration to take a chance that other grain-exporting countries will join them in controlling production to help stabilize world supplies and prices.

This request is implied in an International Grains Agreement negotiated by the Agriculture Department last summer and recently submitted to the Senate for approval.

The declared goal of the agreement is to put into effect a new system of minimum and maximum prices under which wheat would be sold by the participating countries in the world market. These prices would be somewhat higher than those prevailed under an International Wheat Agreement long in operation but which expires this year.

Even under the dying agreement, there was great difficulty in stabilizing prices and supplies because the United States was the only major exporter that did much about trying to stabilize supplies. It alone carried out production controls.

As a consequence, it sometimes lost commercial markets abroad to price-cutting countries not having crop controls and needing to move grain they had no place to store for long periods.

The new International Grains Agreement—which would operate for three years—is being promoted by the administration as a measure that will provide new price insurance for wheat growers.

But critics contend the so-called insurance will pay off only if other wheat-exporting nations abide by the price schedules.

Some farm leaders argue that there would need to be production-control programs in all the exporting nations to make the programs pay off. Without such controls, it is argued, some countries will run into surpluses and be forced to unload at cut prices.

This country could run into a problem in selling its grain within the price range. At times when American supplies are large, as is the case now, wheat prices in this country could be below the world minimum.

This would mean that the United States would have to take action to raise its offering prices in world markets, or else be in violation of the arrangement. It could handle such a situation under present law by levying an export tax on foreign sales.

Some critics contend American wheat growers are among the most efficient in the world and could greatly increase foreign markets if not limited by international restrictions.

Home Agent Tips

By Marjorie Kaiser

Home Economics Agent

From elephant meat to eel eggs, milk to macaroni — just about anything is liable to end up in a can these days. In fact, the average household opens anywhere from 900 to 1,500 of these metal cocoons every year. And, to "cut corners" conveniently, many women have been outfitting their kitchens with electric can openers.

In most models, the cutter completely severs the top which is lifted out of the way by a magnet, while the can itself is held in place until removed. Manually controlled electric openers require the lever or button to be positioned through the entire cutting cycle. In most automatic types, the lever is pressed only long enough to puncture the can and start the cycle; the motor shuts itself off when the can is opened. The majority have front openers, although some models feature an opener where the cutting mechanism is positioned on the side of the case.

Every electric opener has either a cutting wheel that revolves freely or a stationary cutter — wheel or blade — that pierces the can, then removes the lid as the can is turned against it. Fixed cutters can maneuver the corners of square or rectangular cans more successfully; those on new models open all sizes and shapes of cans.

Any type of cutting device must be kept clean because it is sure to become encrusted with food. This clogs its action, is highly unsanitary and can transfer flavor from one food to the next. When dull blades are forced through a can, metal particles may fall into its content, so both cutting wheels and stationary blades should be kept sharp; also, a clean cutter remains sharp longer. It should be wiped with a sudsy cloth after use, then removed and scrubbed in hot soap or detergent suds at frequent intervals.

Electric can openers should never be immersed in water because of motor damage and personal safety, so the cutting assembly must come out for thorough washing. Some types are difficult to remove, a factor to consider when buying an opener. Models with exposed rather than enclosed units are usually easiest to handle. First unplug the appliance, then follow the manufacturer's directions for removing the gears.

The importance of scrupulous cleanliness is emphasized in use-care and warranty manuals; most of these include detailed, diagrammed procedures for removing and replacing the parts. This is often just a matter of loosening and then tightening a pair of screws. The magnet can usually be removed by lifting it upward and outward. The cutter wheel or blade and the magnet should be washed in hot suds, rinsed, and thoroughly dried before being replaced. The point at which the cutting wheel or blade is attached needs to be lubricated occasionally.

Many can openers include one or more added accessories — such as a bottle opener, knife sharpener, knife and scissors sharpener, ice crusher, and even a pencil sharpener. It is important to wash and wipe knives before sharpening, because greasy or wet surface coat the grinding wheel and impede its efficiency.

Most electric opener magnets will not hold aluminum lids; such tops must be "hinged" by stopping the cutting action before the lid is completely cut. Rimless cans, like most which contain evaporated milk, cannot be opened electrically so it is wise to hold on to an "old faithful" manual can opener. This type also needs to be kept clean by washing in hot suds, preferably after each use.

Current electric openers — which come in pastels, brushed chromes, woodtones, and even avocado — are designed with a "clean look" and deserve to be kept that way. Whatever the cabinet, it should be wiped off frequently with a clean cloth wrung out of hot soap or detergent suds; abrasive cleaners are not recommended. The cord should be disconnected, pulled taut through a folded damp cloth, then wiped dry before reuse.

Mayor's Point Well-Proven

DALLAS, N.C. (AP) — Residents of the small North Carolina community of Dallas have been clamoring for a sign on Interstate 85 pointing the way to their town.

But when the State Highway Department erected the sign this week there was more dissent. Mayor David Hoyle said the sign is so small it looks like a postage stamp.

He was explaining his views to newsmen near the sign Thursday when a passing motorist stopped his car and yelled, "Can you tell me how to get to Dallas?"

Mayor's Point Well-Proven

DALLAS, N.C. (AP) — Residents of the small North Carolina community of Dallas have been clamoring for a sign on Interstate 85 pointing the way to their town.

But when the State Highway Department erected the sign this week there was more dissent. Mayor David Hoyle said the sign is so small it looks like a postage stamp.

He was explaining his views to newsmen near the sign Thursday when a passing motorist stopped his car and yelled, "Can you tell me how to get to Dallas?"

4-H Club News

Continuing on from projects discussed two weeks ago, I would like to mention the entomology projects. Included in these are Bees and Buckeye Bug Catchers. With Bees, a member learns how the bee lives, works, and how the bee is so important to the plant. In Bug Catchers, members learn to be familiar with insects which form the most abundant form of animal life, learning which are harmful and which are beneficial to society.

Forestry projects allow 4-H members to study forestry conservation under Ohio conditions, enables them to understand how trees play a part in land use and erosion control, and how trees benefit wildlife. There are three different forestry projects which members can take—Exploring our forests, Tree Planting, and Wildbreaks.

For farm youth or others who have livestock, there are numerous projects available in all species of animals. For example, in beef cattle there are three beef breeding projects as well as steer feeding projects. There are dairy animal projects for virtually all ages of dairy females. Goats can be taken as a 4-H project, also. Considering gilts, and sows and litters are all projects in this area. Poultry and rabbit projects are offered, saddle horses can be shown, and different sheep projects are also available for 4-H members.

Perhaps some of the projects discussed above will be of interest to you as a 4-H member. If you have any questions, par-

Corn-Soybean Clinic Set in Clark County

Leaf angle and its efficiency of light interception may be a key factor in growing a modern high-yield corn crop, according to one of the speakers at the Corn-Soybean Clinic coming to Springfield Wednesday. The clinic is to be held at the Clark County Fairgrounds from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., will feature a panel of six experts from top farm equipment and supply companies which are sponsoring the Clinic.

Along with profit-building illustrated talks and films, the program includes free coffee and rolls at 8:30 a. m., an early-bird drawing for a Remington shotgun, and a free hot meal at noon. At the close of the day, following a question-and-answer period with the experts, a door-prize drawing for a General Electric television will take place.

Farmers who are aiming for heavy yields in corn, up to 200 bushels an acre and higher, have to be sure they choose the right hybrid for their location and other production practices, a DeKalb spokesman says.

Besides the DeKalb speaker, the Clinic program will include a representative from Amchem, Inc., telling how the top soybean farmers are getting more than 80 bushels per acre with careful management and modern equipment and supplies.

Allis-Chalmers' speaker will discuss the complete crop production sequence, with emphasis on the benefits of modern farm machinery. Minimum tillage, high plant population and low-loss harvesting will be among his points of emphasis. The silent, secret, damaging work of soil insects in corn will come under the Shell Chemical Company's spotlight on the Clinic program. Increases in yields of several bushels per acre are available with chemical insect control, and this spokesman will explain the steps.

While farm experts have been recommending high levels of fertilizer use for years, they estimate less than 25 percent of nation's farmers are applying sufficient amounts, in line with soil test results. A panel member from Smith-Douglas will outline the new findings on fertilizing properly.

Grain drying is a paying proposition, a Behlen Manufacturing Company representative will explain to farmers at the clinic.

At the end of the clinic day, a question-and-answer period will put a magnifying glass on specific problems of area farmers. A door-prize drawing for a General Electric television set will wind up the day's events.

Spanish War Vets Rap Peacenicks

By STAN BENJAMIN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — They were all volunteers in their war back in 1898 and they don't cotton to the antics of young men who don't want to serve in today's war in Vietnam.

As James H. McElroy, adjutant general of the United Spanish War Veterans, will tell you, the 9,000 living veterans of the Spanish-American War rank patriotism, Americanism and respect for the flag high among the virtues.

"I'll tell you, we're all behind Gen. Hershey, he's right," McElroy volunteered in a telephone interview, referring to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, who has suggested speedy induction of youths who violate the law while opposing the draft.

"There'll be a day of reckoning," McElroy continued. "In our day, it was 'My country, right or wrong.' We were all volunteers in the Spanish-American War. Now young fellows are trying to get out of serving their country and are forming belligerent groups."

"We can't pull out of Vietnam," he said. "And I'm talking for the whole damn organization when I say that. We fought that out at our last convention."

McElroy, 86, heads an organization whose members are, on the average, slightly older than he is.

The average would be a little higher, he explained, except some members were only 14 when they entered the Navy as apprentices in 1898, and they're only 83 now.

As might be expected, their main concerns now revolve around pensions and medical benefits for themselves and the widows of their departed comrades.

A pension bill Congress passed last year was a great victory, McElroy said, and the battle for it took far longer than the Spanish-American War.

The war lasted only three months. Spain abandoned Cuba and ceded Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippines to the United States.

Some 458,000 Americans served in the war. Those still living are almost the oldest American veterans, predated only by two veterans of the Indian wars—Frederick Fraske, 98, of Chicago, and Reginald Bradley, 100, of Oakland, Calif.

The last veteran of the Civil War died in 1959.

The Spanish-American brotherhood is in its twilight.

"Its lines are steadily growing thinner, and the tramp of its column is with ever-lessening tread," says an anonymous tribute circulated by the organization.

But thousands of them have lived to see the Cuba whose independence they helped to secure turn against the United States. Do they now regret helping Cuba so long ago?

"No, we're not sorry about it," said McElroy. "We're just kind of proud that we did such a short job of it."

Dear Abby: Selfish Daughter Needs Discipline

By Abigail Van Euren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a 13-year-old daughter who is the most selfish, inconsiderate girl in the world? For example, when "The Princess" takes a bath, she thinks she has to have the water up to her neck. There are eight of us in this family, Abby, and she doesn't care if there is no hot water left for anybody else or not.

I wish you would put this in your column as "The Princess" never misses it. She won't listen to me.

BOSTON MOM
DEAR MOM: If "The Princess," at age 13, won't listen to you, you'd better prepare yourself for some royal headaches. Consideration for others is the Number One virtue of this life, and if your daughter doesn't learn it fast she will probably always be in hot water up to her neck.

DEAR ABBY: What is a sure cure for a selfish man? I am married to one. He is 23 and I am 22, and he expects me to wait on him hand and foot. The other night, for example, he said, "Hey, get me my cigarettes and a pillow, will you?" I told him I wasn't his slave, and he got mad.

I work eight hours a day in a laundry and at the end of the day I'm just as tired as he is. He likes to watch television while he's eating, so he eats on a tray. I don't mind that, but when he's finished I have to take the tray back to the kitchen. Sometimes he acts like he's the king and I am his servant.

I really love him, and don't want any trouble, but how can I make him quit being so selfish? He does other selfish things but it would take a book to tell you. Thanks for any help you can give me.

NO SLAVE

DEAR NO SLAVE: For a young married couple, ages 23 and 22, the honeymoon appears to have come to a premature end. I don't know your definition of "love," but it certainly isn't sharing, caring and a desire to please your man. I suspect your marriage is filled with other minor irritations. Why don't you two sit down and find out what happened to all that "love" your married for. With a little luck and understanding you may be able to recapture it before it's too late.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks to you, I have fallen in love with a soldier in Vietnam.

I wrote to Sgt. Jefferson, who gave me a letter to a "lonesome soldier" named Neil, and we have been writing daily.

Neil said that since my first letter to him he felt that he had something to come home for. He is now in the states in a hospital, so we couldn't keep our date to meet on Christmas day but I plan to fly out to Hamilton Air Force Base and surprise him.

I have never seen him, Abby, but I care deeply for him. I couldn't care less if he is short or tall, or fat or thin, or if he has two heads and three eyes. If he will have me, I will be his for the rest of my life. Thank you, Dear Abby, for bringing us together.

PAT Q. (A GRATEFUL NURSE)

DEAR PAT: And thank you for your wonderful letter. I hope you will keep me informed of further progress.

The war lasted only three months. Spain abandoned Cuba and ceded Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippines to the United States.

Some 458,000 Americans served in the war. Those still living are almost the oldest American veterans, predated only by two veterans of the Indian wars—Frederick Friske, 98, of Chicago, and Reginald Bradley, 100, of Oakland, Calif. The last veteran of the Civil War died in 1959.

The Spanish-American brotherhood is in its twilight.

"Its lines are steadily growing

thinner, and the tramp of its column is with ever-lessening tread," says an anonymous tribute circulated by the organization.

But thousands of them have lived to see the Cuba whose independence they helped to secure turn against the United States. Do they now regret helping Cuba so long ago?

"No, we're not sorry about it," said McElroy. "We're just kind of proud that we did such a short job of it."

Dear Abby: Selfish Daughter Needs Discipline

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a 13-year-old daughter who is the most selfish, inconsiderate girl in the world? For example, when "The Princess" takes a bath, she thinks she has to have the water up to her neck. There are eight of us in this family, Abby, and she doesn't care if there is no hot water left for anybody else or not.

I wish you would put this in your column as "The Princess" never misses it. She won't listen to me.

BOSTON MOM
DEAR MOM: If "The Princess," at age 13, won't listen to you, you'd better prepare yourself for some royal headaches. Consideration for others is the Number One virtue of this life, and if your daughter doesn't learn it fast she will probably always be in hot water up to her neck.

DEAR ABBY: What is a sure cure for a selfish man? I am married to one. He is 23 and I am 22, and he expects me to wait on him hand and foot. The other night, for example, he said, "Hey, get me my cigarettes and a pillow, will you?" I told him I wasn't his slave, and he got mad.

I work eight hours a day in a laundry and at the end of the day I'm just as tired as he is. He likes to watch television while he's eating, so he eats on a tray. I don't mind that, but when he's finished I have to take the tray back to the kitchen. Sometimes he acts like he's the king and I am his servant.

I really love him, and don't want any trouble, but how can I make him quit being so selfish? He does other selfish things but it would take a book to tell you. Thanks for any help you can give me.

NO SLAVE
DEAR NO SLAVE: For a young married couple, ages 23 and 22, the honeymoon appears to have come to a premature end. I don't know your definition of "love," but it certainly isn't sharing, caring and a desire to please your man. I suspect your marriage is filled with other minor irritations. Why don't you two sit down and find out what happened to all that "love" your married for. With a little luck and understanding you may be able to recapture it before it's too late.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks to you, I have fallen in love with a soldier in Vietnam. I wrote to Sgt. Jefferson, who gave me a letter to a "lonesome soldier" named Neil, and we have been writing daily.

Neil said that since my first letter to him he felt that he had something to come home for. He is now in the states in a hospital, so we couldn't keep our date to meet on Christmas day but I plan to fly out to Hamilton Air Force Base and surprise him.

I have never seen him, Abby, but I care deeply for him. I couldn't care less if he is short or tall, or fat or thin, or if he has two heads and three eyes. If he will have me, I will be his for the rest of my life. Thank you, Dear Abby, for bringing us together.

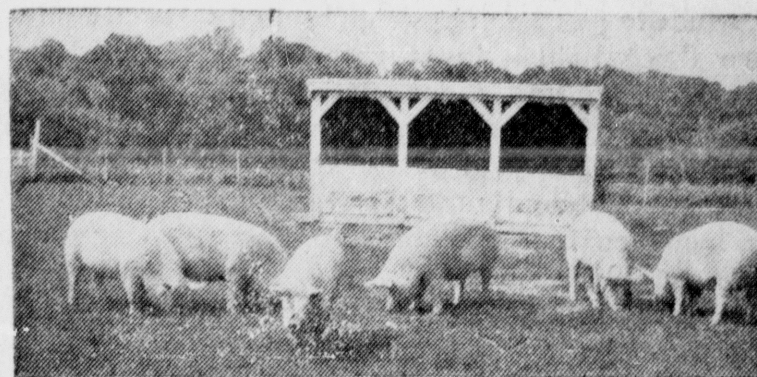

PAT Q. (A GRATEFUL NURSE)
DEAR PAT: And thank you for your wonderful letter. I hope you will keep me informed of further progress.

Controversy Reopened

An article by Dr. Carl C. Seltzer in the Journal of the American Medical Association has opened new controversies surrounding cigarette smoking and various diseases. Dr. Seltzer, of the Harvard University School of Public Health, takes issue with those who claim a casual relationship between cigarette smoking and heart disease.

In was in 1964 that the surgeon general issued his report linking cigarettes to various physical ailments. Many studies have been made since then, and it is from these Dr. Seltzer draws his conclusion that the evidence is anything but consistent.

Included in the physician's study were three British investigations into physicians' mortality, one study by the National Cancer Institute, a Canadian study on smoking and health, three by the U. S. Public Health Service, and one study on U. S. veterans' smoking and mortality.

A continuing heart study in Framingham, Mass., according to the doctor, suggests that "the effects of smoking are limited to those persons with already compromised circulations."

Contradictory and inconsistent findings throughout all the cited studies have prompted the series of articles in the AMA Journal by Dr. Seltzer. Citing a number of discrepancies, Dr. Seltzer concludes, "It is, therefore, difficult to see from the new epidemiological data how valid casual inferences can be drawn that cigarette smoking is linked to excessive coronary heart disease deaths or that excessive coronary heart disease deaths are caused by cigarette smoking."

The Harvard physician does not say cigarettes are not harmful; he merely argues critics of cigarette smoking have not proven their case, all of their statistics to the contrary. The lack of concern shown by the average cigarette smoker indicates he came to the same conclusion some time ago.

More Trolley Rides

In many cities, and certainly most smaller towns, a whole generation has grown up which has known none of the joys of trolley car riding. The trolley, with its sideway motion and the rattling of the rails, its open windows and horsehair seats, is a relic of the past.

Or is it? The American Transit Association has just released figures on various types of public transportation for 1966. The news for the industry generally is not good.

Bus ridership decreased slightly, from 5.8 billion to 5.7 billion, and the number of subway-elevated riders also declined by 100,000. But the number of trolley riders increased from 276 million in 1965 to 282 million in 1966.

Three cities — San Francisco, Boston and Philadelphia — accounted for the increase in trolley passengers. It is interesting that the number of buses in service increased by 530, while the number of passengers was declining 1 percent. But the number of trolleys decreased by 142, while growing in public favor. What perverse logic is represented in these figures is anybody's guess.

But it does seem the trolley is a very lively relic of the past. Philadelphia alone recorded 56 million streetcar riders in 1966.

Perhaps some of the trolley resurgence can be attributed to a spirit of escapism among big city dwellers seeking some relief from the overbearing tensions of their environment. But don't bet on it.

Chances are people are rediscovering what other generations knew: the streetcar can be a pleasant, convenient and relatively swift means of going from one place to another.

And it sure beats trying to find a parking space.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE LATE EDDIE CANTOR loved to tell stories about his very good friend Jack Benny. One of his claims was that during the last ten-minute total eclipse of the sun, Jack rushed down to the Western Union office so he could send night telegrams.

The outdoor feature editor of a metropolitan newspaper received this letter from a youthful reader: "Can you tell me a good place to fish within about six miles of the address below? I'm 14 years old and have saved up enough money to buy a rod, reel, and line, but don't know where to go fishing. My dad goes almost every weekend, but he and his friends don't want to be bothered with a kid along, so I have to find a place I can get to alone by bus or on my bike."

The editor sent this letter straight to the boy's father, and this is the reply he got: "You handed me quite a wallop with your letter, and did I ever deserve it! When I think of the opportunity I might have lost, I shudder. Allow me to tell you that I now have a new and wonderful fishing companion, and we've got some great plans for the season ahead. I wonder how many other fathers are passing up similar opportunities?"

Leo Rosten, book editor and author of "The Education of Hyman Kaplan," was confronted by a very angry son one evening, who accused him, "Do you know what you've become, Pop? REQUIRED READING!"

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Cirrhosis of the liver is a chronic disease which, when allowed to progress, often becomes fatal. The liver is one of the most remarkable machines in the body and is absolutely essential for good health.

Long standing chronic alcoholism is one of the most important causes of changes in the liver, changes that replace normal healthy tissue with scar tissue. There are other less serious reasons for cirrhosis.

Many heroic types of operations have been performed in an effort to save the lives of patients with this chronic disease. One of the most brilliant of these operations was devised by Dr. Harry H. LeVeen and Dr. Vincent A. Piccone at the Brooklyn Veterans Administration Hospital in Brooklyn, New York. In a spectacular way they reopened the small umbilical vein that is found in a newborn baby and which closes shortly after birth.

This umbilical vein is part of the structure that is tied off when a newborn infant is delivered from its mother. Through this tiny vein these courageous surgeons were able to begin a definite long-term improvement on the functioning of the liver in adults who might otherwise have succumbed to cirrhosis.

So startling were the results that now the umbilical vein is being "reopened" in an effort to treat liver abscesses by pouring large quantities of antibiotics through the newly opened blood vessel. Further studies will, of course, show the value of this technique for the control of liver diseases of great severity.

Atherosclerosis is a form of arteriosclerosis and sometimes the terms are used interchangeably for the laity. Actually, both apply to changes in the blood vessels, especially the arteries, which make them less elastic. When the condition is uninterrupted the flow of blood diminishes and interferes with the circulation of the body.

Many causes for arteriosclerosis have been named. High fat and high cholesterol diets have been indicated.

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads and union leaders representing their 600,000 employees are cautiously moving toward what they hope will be a new era of peace in their historically tumultuous labor relations.

After signing two historic agreements on health and job protection in recent weeks, industry and union leaders plan a summit meeting to tackle other problems. And while wages, a main bone of contention, weren't mentioned, a union spokesman said they couldn't be ruled out.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Feb. 3, the 34th day of 1968. There are 332 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1924, former President Woodrow Wilson died at his home in Washington.

On this date:

In 1809, the territory of Illinois was established.

In 1913, the income tax amendment was ratified.

In 1917, the United States broke diplomatic relations with Germany.

In 1919, the Irish Republican leader, Eamon de Valera, escaped from an English prison.

In 1930, President Herbert Hoover appointed Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the Supreme Court, succeeding William Howard Taft.

In 1943, the British Royal Air Force pounded the German city of Hamburg during World War II.

Ten years ago — The premier and foreign ministers of Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg signed a 50-year treaty formally establishing the Benelux Economic Union.

Five years ago — Canada's defense minister, Douglas Harkness resigned in a dispute over whether Canada should use nuclear weapons.

One year ago — President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers Union resigned as a vice president of the AFL-CIO.

Elvis Presley

Now a Father

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — There'll be some new notes sounded before long at the suburban mansion of rock 'n' roll king Elvis Presley.

They may be a bit off-key for a time, though, since they'll come from the tiny throat of Lisa Marie Presley, the first child of the entertainer and Mrs. Presley.

The 6-pound, 15-ounce baby was born at 5:01 p.m. Thursday, six hours and 19 minutes after her attractive, brunette mother checked into Baptist Hospital. Father Elvis was described by a hospital spokesman as "a pretty typical first-time father."

Hospitals, Kent

State Join Hands

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mt. Sinai and St. Luke's Hospitals, which have two of the largest nursing classes offered by Cleveland hospitals, have joined with Kent State University in developing a new nursing school.

Both hospitals will phase out their own nursing classes by 1970, replacing them with the "degree" courses offered by Kent State.

Many drugs may make one drowsy. When using them for the first time be sure not to drive or work at dangerous, heavy machinery.

Sub Not Sub, Newsmen Report

PERTH, Australia (AP) — It isn't the U.S. submarine Triton. And it isn't a lost Jap sub. The wreck spotted off the southwest coast of Australia this week is the freighter Franklin, and it's been there since 1902, newsmen who visited it reported today.

An airline pilot spotted the wreckage early this week. There was speculation it was the Triton, which vanished on patrol in 1943 with 74 men aboard. But two Perth men thought it was a Japanese sub sunk by three Australian corvettes in 1944.

The newsmen who went out to the wreck a mile offshore said the freighter's rusted, barnacle-covered engine cylinders must have looked just like a conning tower from the air.

The World Today

By NEIL GILBRIDE (For James Marlow)

"We are delighted," said chief union spokesman G. E. Leighty after the Association of American Railroads invited rail labor leaders to the talks.

The pleasant contrast with the bitter bargaining battles of the past five years that led to frequent White House intervention and resulted in two special federal laws to halt nationwide strike showdowns.

Leighty, chairman of the 23-union Railway Labor Executives' Association, is selecting a labor committee to meet with three railroad presidents representing the industry.

"Perhaps a joint committee, as we suggested three weeks ago, can help bring us into a new era," Leighty said.

He made the suggestion Jan. 11 when the unions and the industry announced the signing of a health and welfare plan covering all rail workers and their families. It is described as the world's biggest private insurance policy with annual premiums of $220 million.

Later, C. L. Dennis, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, announced another historic agreement guaranteeing virtually full, lifetime job protection for thousands of workers affected by the merger of four railroads into the Great Northern system.

Both agreements were announced with smiles and reports of unusual harmony on both sides.

But not all union leaders are as sanguine about a sudden new era of peace with the industry.

"The thing that needs improving more than anything else is the willingness of the carriers to quit relying on the courts, Congress and eventually compulsory arbitration," said P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the International Association of Machinists.

Siemiller was the sparkplug in the most recent rail labor crisis, a two-day nationwide strike of 25,000 members of five rail shop unions last July that prompted Congress into its second compulsory arbitration law in five years. The law forbade any further striking and set up a government board which later dictated a wage settlement.

Some of the other union leaders in the dispute grumbled that the most recent rail labor crisis, Siemiller stamped them into the strike, the first walkout of rail shop workers in 45 years.

Nor were the railroads happy with the two-year wage hike of 11.5 per cent handed down by the board.

The other federal compulsory arbitration law, in 1963, led to a ruling permitting the railroads to eliminate the jobs of some 20,000 firemen the industry said were no longer needed on diesel engines.

There were signs both sides have become tired of the cumbersome procedures of the 1926 Railway Labor Act, which frequently leads to lengthy hearings and court action and sometimes takes years to settle a dispute.

Another factor may be the desire of both unions and railroads to avoid more settlements dictated by Congress. The unions felt they were badly hurt in the 1963 firemen's arbitration case, and the railroads were far from pleased with the size of the wage award in last summer's shop crafts case.

Whether the new moves to improve relations result in anything like a new era remains to be seen, but both sides appear to believe they may be on the right track.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is ill.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — From the nation's money centers there flocked here this week the most powerful, glamorous and eager investors in America, the men who make the stock market rise and fall, the managers of institutional portfolios.

Powerful? They own well over 30 per cent of all shares on the New York Stock Exchange. Glamorous? Some doubled their money last year. Eager? Some trade by the day, week or month in quest of quick gains.

Such in-out trading is called performance. At all times a good record must be shown, and so the portfolio manager sometimes takes advantage of every swing in the market, swiftly trading thousands of shares at a time.

In so doing, some critics maintain they upset the market, cause volatile price swings, pose a threat to the finances of corporations, crowd out the small investor and even guarantee success by their own trading power.

On the other hand, their shrewd analyses of some stocks is said to be raising the standard of all investment research. They have helped fatten pension accounts. They have introduced millions of persons to stock market profits.

Among them were the managers of big mutual funds, administrators of corporate pension plans, conservative insurance men who soon hope to be running mutual funds, and sharp young millionaire brokers.

The heads of college endowments mingled in the crowd, since they are now concerned with making money grow, as are the cagey, cautious oldtimers who for years ran the big trusts at a return of one or two per cent a year.

This was the first Institutional Investor Conference and it began as a triumphal one, the past year having been one of big capital gains. But this first meeting glittered only briefly and then turned more somber.

First, stocks were being battered, ironically by their own trading. The high flyers, which had doubled and tripled in a year, were being bombed. In addition, critics had begun to question the management methods of some favorites.

Gustave Levy, New York Stock Exchange chairman, sounded the theme early. Be responsible and professional, he said. Face problems "or others will do it for us because great public interest surrounds a business that handles other peoples' money."

NEW YORK (AP) — Kathryn Crosby, a brunette whirlwind, leads six lives.

In addition to being a wife, mother, actress, teacher, and registered nurse, she now has become an author.

It took her two years to write a lively and merry account of her life with her famous singing husband entitled "Bing and Other Things."

"Bing thinks I'm overprogrammed," she confessed frankly. "But I lack his lovely ability to play, to relax. I thrive on activity — so much so that I don't really know whether it's a fault or a virtue."

"If I do have a virtue, I suppose it's the desire to follow through. I really like to finish anything I start."

Since her marriage, the former Texas beauty queen has borne three children, appeared in a number of films and plays, and won her cap as a registered nurse. She also has the task of supervising the four Crosby homes, and at one of them in Baja, Calif., she works as a volunteer teacher and dental assistant.

"One night we pulled 49 teeth," she remarked.

Behind Kathryn's endless energy is the fuel of a deep religious conviction and a desire for social service.

"When I was young my mother once told me, 'Living, Kathryn, is giving.' I've never forgotten her remark."

"I feel that what frustrates most people in life is lack of a path to follow. To me having a God to serve is the core of any important path, and there are millions of paths."

Asked how she managed to do so many things, and do them well, she replied:

"Any woman has to admit that she finds more time for things in a busy schedule than in an empty one."

Kathy found her first adventure in authorship hard work but also so zestful she may give it another try.

"Writing can become like candy," she said, smiling. "You know it isn't good for you, but you can't help it. Writing a book, however, has one big advantage. It clarifies your knowledge of yourself. It teaches you to realize what your actual point of view is."

With the enthusiastic approval of her daughter and two sons, and the wary acceptance of her goals by Bing, she plans to continue her acting career.

Hamilton County Jail Staff Up

CINCINNATI (AP) — The overcrowded Hamilton County Jail is going to have eight additional men to guard its more than 300 prisoners as of Feb. 15, officials announced Thursday.

Riots that rocked the jail atop the county courthouse both Christmas night and Dec. 30 prompted county officials to increase the guard staff from its present 38 men to 46 men.

More than 50 prisoners smashed furniture, bedding, windows and nearly everything in sight during the two riots in the jail.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE LATE EDDIE CANTOR loved to tell stories about his very good friend Jack Benny. One of his claims was that during the last ten-minute total eclipse of the sun, Jack rushed down to the Western Union office so he could send night telegrams.

The outdoor feature editor of a metropolitan newspaper received this letter from a youthful reader: "Can you tell me a good place to fish within about six miles of the address below? I'm 14 years old and have saved up enough money to buy a rod, reel, and line, but don't know where to go fishing. My dad goes almost every weekend, but he and his friends don't want to be bothered with a kid along, so I have to find a place I can get to alone by bus or on my bike."

The editor sent this letter straight to the boy's father, and this is the reply he got:

"You handed me quite a wallop with your letter, and did I ever deserve it! When I think of the opportunity I might have lost. I shudder. Allow me to tell you that I now have a new and wonderful fishing companion, and we've got some great plans for the season ahead. I wonder how many other fathers are passing up similar opportunities?"

Leo Rosten, Look editor and author of "The Education of Hyman Kaplan," was confronted by a very angry son one evening, who accused him, "Do you know what you've become, Pop? REQUIRED READING!"

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Cirrhosis of the liver is a chronic disease which, when allowed to progress, often becomes fatal. The liver is one of the most remarkable machines in the body and is absolutely essential for good health.

Long standing chronic alcoholism is one of the most important causes of changes in the liver, changes that replace normal healthy tissue with scar tissue. There are other less serious reasons for cirrhosis.

Many heroic types of operations have been performed in an effort to save the lives of patients with this chronic disease. One of the most brilliant of these operations was devised by Dr. Harry H. LeVeen and Dr. Vincent A. Piccone at the Brooklyn Veterans Administration Hospital in Brooklyn, New York. In a spectacular way they reopened the small umbilical vein that is found in a newborn baby and which closes shortly after birth.

This umbilical vein is part of the structure that is tied off when a newborn infant is delivered from its mother. Through this tiny vein these courageous surgeons were able to begin a definite long-term improvement on the functioning of the liver in adults who might otherwise have succumbed to cirrhosis.

So startling were the results that now the umbilical vein is being "reopened" in an effort to treat liver abscesses by pouring large quantities of antibiotics through the newly opened blood vessel. Further studies will, of course, show the value of this technique for the control of liver diseases of great severity.

Atherosclerosis is a form of arteriosclerosis and sometimes the terms are used interchangeably for the laity. Actually, both apply to changes in the blood vessels, especially the arteries, which make them less elastic. When the condition is uninterrupted the flow of blood diminishes and interferes with the circulation of the body.

Many causes for arteriosclerosis have been named. High fat and high cholesterol diets have been indicated.

Recently, Dr. Meyer Texon, at the New York University Medical Center, working in association with Dr. A. M. Imparato and Dr. Milton Helsen, devised a remarkable idea that may explain why some people develop changes in the arteries more readily than others. They found that a study of fluid mechanics and kinking of the blood vessels may explain more about this still confusing disease.

At the same time that this work was going on, Dr. Charles T. Dotter, of the University of Oregon Medical School, has been able to reopen important arteries in the legs that seemed to be completely closed by arteriosclerosis. Dr. Dotter was able to insert a flexible coiled spring into a closed artery of the leg and thread it through the blocked area. By this means he was able to force blood through the widened artery.

Almost 150 patients have been treated by this method, many of whom would have been destined for amputation of the leg because of the absence of blood circulation.

The newer knowledge of the cause of arteriosclerosis and such brilliant surgery are vital contributions to medicine.

Many drugs may make one drowsy. When using them for the first time be sure not to drive or work at dangerous, heavy machinery.

Sub Not Sub, Newsmen Report

PERTH, Australia (AP) — It isn't the U.S. submarine Triton. And it isn't a lost Jap sub. The wreck spotted off the southwest coast of Australia this week is the freighter Franklin, and it's been there since 1902, newsmen who visited it reported today.

An airline pilot spotted the wreckage early this week. There was speculation it was the Triton, which vanished on patrol in 1943 with 74 men aboard. But two Perth men thought it was a Japanese sub sunk by three Australian corvettes in 1944.

The newsmen who went out to the wreck a mile offshore said the freighter's rusted, barnacle-covered engine cylinders must have looked just like a conning tower from the air.

The World Today

By NEIL GILBRIDE (For James Marlow)

AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads and union leaders representing their 600,000 employees are cautiously moving toward what they hope will be a new era of peace in their historically tumultuous labor relations.

After signing two historic agreements on health and job protection in recent weeks, industry and union leaders plan a summit meeting to tackle other problems. And while wages, a main bone of contention, weren't mentioned, a union spokesman said they couldn't be ruled out.

"We are delighted," said chief union spokesman G. E. Leighty after the Association of American Railroads invited rail labor leaders to the talks.

The pleasant contrast with the bitter bargaining battles of the past five years that led to frequent White House intervention and resulted in two special federal laws to halt nationwide strike showdowns.

Leighty, chairman of the 23-union Railway Labor Executives' Association, is selecting a labor committee to meet with three railroad presidents representing the industry.

"Perhaps a joint committee, as we suggested three weeks ago, can help bring us into a new era," Leighty said.

He made the suggestion Jan. 11 when the unions and the industry announced the signing of a health and welfare plan covering all rail workers and their families. It is described as the world's biggest private insurance policy with annual premiums of $220 million.

Later, C. L. Dennis, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, announced another historic agreement guaranteeing virtually full, lifetime job protection for thousands of workers affected by the merger of four railroads into the Great Northern system.

Both agreements were announced with smiles and reports of unusual harmony on both sides.

But not all union leaders are as sanguine about a sudden new era of peace with the industry.

"The thing that needs improving more than anything else is the willingness of the carriers to quit relying on the courts, Congress and eventually compulsory arbitration," said P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the International Association of Machinists.

Siemiller was the sparkplug in the most recent rail labor crisis, a two-day nationwide strike of 25,000 members of five rail shop unions last July that prompted Congress into its second compulsory arbitration law in five years. The law forbade any further striking and set up a government board which later dictated a wage settlement.

Some of the other union leaders in the dispute grumbled that the most recent rail labor crisis, Siemiller stamped them into the strike, the first walkout of rail shop workers in 45 years.

Nor were the railroads happy with the two-year wage hike of 11.5 per cent handed down by the board.

The other federal compulsory arbitration law, in 1963, led to a ruling permitting the railroads to eliminate the jobs of some 20,000 firemen the industry said were no longer needed on diesel engines.

There were signs both sides have become tired of the cumbersome procedures of the 1926 Railway Labor Act, which frequently leads to lengthy hearings and court action and sometimes take years to settle a dispute.

Another factor may be the desire of both unions and railroads to avoid more settlements dictated by Congress. The unions felt they were badly hurt in the 1963 firemen's arbitration case, and the railroads were far from pleased with the size of the wage award in last summer's shop crafts case.

Whether the new moves to improve relations result in anything like a new era remains to be seen, but both sides appear to believe they may be on the right track.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is ill.

Anti-Smoking Assembly Held At Logan Elm

By LORNA POLING

The students at Logan Elm were presented with a "hard-sell" approach against cigarette smoking at an assembly Jan. 24.

Dr. William Myers was assisted in the presentation by Rev. Foster Jenne, pastor at Emmett's Chapel Methodist Church; Ralph Starkey, head of child welfare; Paul Starr, head football coach of Circleville High School; and George Hamrick, Pickaway County extension agent.

Rev. Jenne stressed that no one should damage their body, which is "God's Temple". Starkey presented the statistics involved proving that smoking is a very expensive habit.

Coach Starr said that no athlete who smoked was ever a successful athlete. Smoking causes their endurance to be very low.

Hamrick told the students that some of the executives smokers give for smoking are neither good, nor sensible when they may actually be killing themselves.

The students saw slides of lungs, livers, and other internal body parts that had been partially destroyed by cancer. These slides had been taken after the patients had died from cancer.

Dr. Myers also gave a list of about fifteen types of cancer or other diseases that smoking can cause regularly.

U.S. Moves To Halt Sale Of Diet Pills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is moving to halt the sale of the thyroid-digitalis pills that thousands of Americans use to take off excess weight.

Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of the FDA, announced the action Friday at a hearing of the Senate antitrust subcommittee and immediately was criticized by the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., for not having done so long ago.

The FDA showed "lousy judgment" in its reluctance to act, especially since there have been indications for years that thyroid-digitalis pills can be harmful, even fatal, Hart said.

"I think it is a skeleton in your closet," he said.

Goddard, who has headed the FDA only since January 1966, defended the agency's conduct by saying that early evidence against the pills—some dating back to the 1940s—was not conclusive enough to justify having them taken off the market.

But the FDA feels it "now has sufficient evidence to prove that these drugs constitute a danger to health," he said.

Goddard said there are no major drug firms among the approximately 25 companies that manufacture thyroid-digitalis preparations. Seizure actions have been carried out against three companies and more are planned, he said.

'Death of Joe Egg' Unusual Drama

By WILLIAM GLOVER

AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP)—How can a play be both wildly comic and deeply sad?

For answer, see "A Day in the Death of Joe Egg," the rewording unorthodox, unlikely drama which arrived from England Thursday night at Broadway's Atkinson theater.

But go with a warning that acceptance entails straightforward consideration of what usually makes one avert the eyes.

A hopelessly retarded child is the subject of Peter Nichols' story, taken from the author's own life. The parents care for the girl with a flippant levity and savage endurance which makes their experience a universal allegory.

In self-survival reaction the couple joke about "the parsnip," yet the splendor of the play's fascination is that incidents flow without embarrassment and good taste never lapses.

Albert Finney, all rough contrariness, and Zena Walker, repeating her London role as the mother, recall through the first act the inadequate responses of

Mexico City Hit by Tremor

MEXICO CITY (AP) — An earth tremor pulsed through Mexico City for 30 seconds Friday night, breaking windows and causing power failures. The beach resort town of Acapulco was also hit and patrons rushed from night clubs. No damage was reported there, however.

Police in Mexico City reported no injuries but some panic because of power failures. In Acapulco, a man was slightly hurt when a wooden fence toppled on him.

Teays Valley High School Board of Education has purchased new equipment for the metal department.

The board purchased an electric band saw at a cost of $75. This machine was valued at $810.

After delivery of the machine it was completely dismantled, repaired, reassembled, painted and adjusted by members of the machine shop classes.

In addition to the electric band saw they purchased a horizontal mill. The mill received the same treatment as the band saw.

Both machines were purchased from an army surplus company in Columbus. The machines are run under the supervision of Charles Thomas.

U.S. Moves To Halt Sale Of Diet Pills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is moving to halt the sale of the thyroid-digitalis pills that thousands of Americans use to take off excess weight.

Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of the FDA, announced the action Friday at a hearing of the Senate antitrust subcommittee and immediately was criticized by the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., for not having done so long ago.

The FDA showed "lousy judgment" in its reluctance to act, especially since there have been indications for years that thyroid-digitalis pills can be harmful, even fatal, Hart said.

"I think it is a skeleton in your closet," he said.

Goddard, who has headed the FDA only since January 1966, defended the agency's conduct by saying that early evidence against the pills—some dating back to the 1940s—was not conclusive enough to justify having them taken off the market.

But the FDA feels it "now has sufficient evidence to prove that these drugs constitute a danger to health," he said.

Goddard said there are no major drug firms among the approximately 25 companies that manufacture thyroid-digitalis preparations. Seizure actions have been carried out against three companies and more are planned, he said.

Stokes Decides Against Limousine

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mayor Carl Stokes has decided not to ask for that new, expensive limousine.

Stokes said Friday he changed his mind because he feared reaction to the idea might hurt the chances of the proposed income tax increase.

One bid was submitted for the car—$11,590—with delivery within 75 days. The mayor had said he wanted the car for distinguished visitors.

'Death of Joe Egg' Unusual Drama

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP)—How can a play be both wildly comic and deeply sad?

For answer, see "A Day in the Death of Joe Egg," the rewardingly unorthodox, unlikely drama which arrived from England Thursday night at Broadway's Atkinson theater.

But go with a warning that acceptance entails straightforward consideration of what usually makes one avert the eyes.

A hopelessly retarded child is the subject of Peter Nichols' story, taken from the author's own life. The parents care for the girl with a flippancy levity and savage endurance which makes their experience a universal allegory.

In self-survival reaction the couple joke about "the parsnip," yet the splendor of the play's fascination is that incidents flow without embarrassment and good taste never lapses.

Albert Finney, all rough contrariness, and Zena Walker, repeating her London role as the mother, recall through the first act the inadequate responses of doctor, priest and friends in facing their love-depair.

The second, seemingly more improvised act, probes further into dilemma and reaches a poignant peak as Finney attempts to end the child's life.

The parental performances are subtly attuned with grief and terrible humor. In lesser roles, Elizabeth Hubbard, John Carson and Joan Hickson are fine, while Susan Alpern emerges briefly from her spastic's wheelchair for a moment of make-believe vitality.

Michael Blakemore's directing direction with a side-stage jazz quartet providing abrupt mood shifts, is constantly arresting. "Joe Egg" is one of the season's most powerful and unforgettable dramas.

Super Chief Derailment Injures 37

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ten cars of the Santa Fe Railway's crack passenger train, the Su-per Chief, derailed in the Kan-sas City railroad yards today. At least 37 persons were taken to hospitals.

Some ambulances made as many as four or five trips to the scene. None of those hospital-ized appeared to be seriously in-jured, hospital authorities said.

A railroad spokesman said eight passenger coaches and two baggage cars were off the rails. Several of the derailed cars straddled the main line, blocking both tracks.

The 14-car train, with an esti-mated 250 to 300 passengers aboard, had just left Kansas City Union Station, bound for Los Angeles.

The railroad said the Super Chief was picking up speed and traveling between 50 and 55 miles an hour when the cars jumped the tracks.

Missionaries Die In Viet Fighting

NEW YORK (AP) — "These were dedicated people who had a commission from the Lord to go into the lands of the world to carry the message of Jesus Christ," says a church official of six American missionaries reported slain by the Viet Cong.

"They would face the worst in order to carry out this commis-sion," Robert Coles, acting for-foreign secretary of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, said Friday. "I feel certain that even if they knew their fate, they would not hesitate to go in again."

The six were killed this week at an Alliance-operated leprosa-rium on the outskirts of Ban Me Thuot when a Viet Cong force overran that highlands village about 170 miles northeast of Sai-gon.

For a good mixture for meat loaf, have pork shoulder ground and add it to ground beef. Use about half a pound of the pork to a couple of pounds of the beef.

INFLATION HITS FURNITURE—Bobbie Smythe sits in an in-flated see-through easy chair on display in New York. It is made of transparent plastic, one of a line of blow-up fur-niture developed by Quasar Khanh, who is thinking now in terms of an inflatable house.

Super Chief Derailment Injures 37

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ten cars of the Santa Fe Railway's crack passenger train, the Super Chief, derailed in the Kansas City railroad yards today. At least 37 persons were taken to hospitals.

Some ambulances made as many as four or five trips to the scene. None of those hospitalized appeared to be seriously injured, hospital authorities said.

A railroad spokesman said eight passenger coaches and two baggage cars were off the rails. Several of the derailed cars straddled the main line, blocking both tracks.

The 14-car train, with an estimated 250 to 300 passengers aboard, had just left Kansas City Union Station, bound for Los Angeles.

The railroad said the Super Chief was picking up speed and traveling between 50 and 55 miles an hour when the cars jumped the tracks.

Missionaries Die In Viet Fighting

NEW YORK (AP) — "These were dedicated people who had a commission from the Lord to go into the lands of the world to carry the message of Jesus Christ," says a church official of six American missionaries reported slain by the Viet Cong.

"They would face the worst in order to carry out this commission," Robert Coles, acting foreign secretary of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, said Friday. "I feel certain that even if they knew their fate, they would not hesitate to go in again."

The six were killed this week at an Alliance-operated leprosarium on the outskirts of Ban Me Thuot when a Viet Cong force overran that highlands village about 170 miles northeast of Saigon.

Westfall Avenges Loss; Circleville Beaten, 74-53

Balanced Scoring Paces 81-56 Win

By HERB AMEY

A balanced scoring attack by the Westfall Mustangs handed them a 81-56 victory over Fairbanks of Union County Friday in the Mustangs' gym.

Six Mustangs, paced by Charlie Palmer's 16 markers, broke into double figures in scoring. Gene Carrey flipped in 12 points. Tony Lightie, Andy Hamman and Ed Cornwell had 11 each and Denny Fletcher added 10.

The Fairbanks Panthers topped Westfall two weeks ago, 45-43, on their home floor in a defensive battle. Last night's tilt was slowed down by fouls and turnovers.

Westfall grabbed the early lead and fought to hold it throughout the first period. Big Tony Lightie, Westfall's 6-4 pivot man, was saddled with three personal fouls in the first eight minutes and was taken from the lineup.

BOTH teams were in the one and one foul shot situation with only five minutes gone in the opening period. The Mustangs held on to their lead and the score at the first period buzzer was 18-15.

The Mustangs shot 12 foul shots during the period, hitting on eight. Fairbanks sank 13 of 15 from the charity line. They made only one field goal in nine attempts, while Westfall made half of their 10 shots.

During the second period the Mustangs stretched their lead to 11 markers. Fairbanks brought it down to only a five point spread with two minutes left. But last minute foul shooting boosted the score to 39-28 before the half ended.

Westfall took 30 shots from the floor during the half, hitting on 13. From the foul stripe the Mustangs had 19 chances, connecting on 13.

Fairbanks took only 20 field goal attempts during the first 16 minutes, canning six. They visited the charity stripe 20 times, cashing in on 16.

The taller Mustangs out rebounded Fairbanks, 15-9, in the first half. Turnovers plagued both teams. Westfall showed nine and the Panthers, 11.

CHARLIE Palmer showed the way in the third canto, tossing in nine of his 16 markers. The Mustangs canned nine of their 18 field goal attempts while pulling away to a 59-40 bulge.

Again both teams entered the one and one situation early. Westfall with 3:04 on the clock and Fairbanks four seconds later. During the final eight minutes, Westfall outscored Fairbanks, 22-16.

When Freddie Lewis, Roger Brown and Jimmy Rayl hit a hot shooting streak for the Indiana Pacers in the American Basketball Association, there isn't much their opponents can do about it.

Take Friday night for example, when the Pacers beat the New Jersey Americans 113-103 at Teaneck, N.J.

The Americans were ahead 47-38 in the second quarter when Rayl went on his spree. He scored 14 of Indiana's next 16 points and the Pacers led 54-52 at the half. He didn't score the rest of the game.

Lewis and Brown went on their streaks in the last quarter after New Jersey had gone ahead 82-81 on Tony Jackson's three-point goal.

Art Heyman also came up with a hot hand in the last quarter and sparked the Pittsburgh Pipers to a home-court 112-105 victory over the Dallas Chaparrals. Heyman scored 37 points, 16 of them in the final period which included a three-pointer that put the Pipers ahead for good at 83-80. Cincy Powell was high for Dallas with 30.

The Kentucky Colonels trounced the Minnesota Muskies 120-84 and the New Orleans Buccaneers routed the Anaheim Amigos 128-101 in the other scheduled ABA games.

Sammy Davis Jr. Manages Liston

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain has etched his magical name into the record books again. But the chances are you'd never guess for what.

It's for assists, not points, this time.

Chamberlain, the record-cracking scoring giant of the Philadelphia 76ers, has switched more to playmaking in his later, vintage years. And he handed out 21 assists—a club record—in pacing the 76ers to a 131-121 National Basketball Association victory over Detroit Friday night.

The mark also was a high for the NBA this year. The all-time mark is jointly held by Bob Cousy and Guy Rodgers, each with 28.

In other NBA action, Boston drubbed Baltimore 120-99; Los Angeles smothered Seattle 151-133; Cincinnati topped Chicago 125-113 and San Francisco downed San Diego 127-121.

Academies Join Boycott

NEW YORK (AP) — The three U.S. service academies have joined the boycott organized by Negro athletes of the New York Athletic Club track meet Feb. 16.

Now the question is whether the services themselves, particularly the strong U.S. Army team, will join it, too.

Alfred Fitt, an assistant secretary of defense, has written Marshall Brown of the Plainfield, N.J., NAACP, saying the three service academies will not compete in the meet because of alleged discriminatory membership policies practiced by the NYAC.

New Mexico Win String Now 17

By TED MEIER
New Mexico has developed into the most surprising team of the college basketball season.

The Lobos of Coach Bob King were picked to finish last in the Western Athletic Conference, but today they boast an unbeaten record, are first in the WAC and fourth-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll.

Palmer, Weiskopf Tied In Bob Hope Golf Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — That man of golf, Arnold Palmer, was back knocking on the door Saturday in quest of his third victory in the $122,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Arnie moved out of the fringes of the early round leaders in the third round Friday and went into today's fourth round of the 90-hole marathon tied with young Tom Weiskopf at 209.

The 209 is seven strokes under par for the distance in an event which winds up Sunday. It was to be nationally televised (NBC) 4:30 p.m. EST.

Arnie shot a 67, five under par, Friday, the lowest round he's had in the new year. He won the Hope charity-raising tournament in 1960 and again in 1962.

Weiskopf, 26, from Marco Island, Fla., stroked a 68 to gain a position he held alone in the 1967 Hope affair.

Play is over four par 36-36-72 country club courses: Indian Wells—where both Palmer and Weiskopf played Friday—Eldorado, La Quinta and Bermuda Dunes.

Four professionals were tied at 210, one stroke behind the leaders—Bob McCallister, with a third round 68; Gay Brewer and Charles Coody, with 69s, and Bruce Devlin of Australia, with 72.

Billy Casper was knotted at 211 and but for a bum break might well be in a tie with the top two.

Jackie Ickx of Belgium drove the fastest of the twin light blue Fords and the fastest of all cars to a record qualifying speed of 113.7 miles per hour Friday.

Paul Hawkins of Australia qualified his twin GT40 at 117.23.

Ickx, with a lap time of 1 minute, 54.91 seconds, beat the 1:55.1 and 119.165 m.p.h. record Dan Gurney established over the 3.81-mile course one year ago in the larger Ford Mark 2.

If the GT40 Fords have endurance to match their speed, they are the cars to beat. But Porsche remains the favorite over the long haul.

Always dependable at a distance, the German Porsche factory has added power and a little size under new international racing rules. Almost without trying, the sturdy Porsches qualified for third through sixth places on the starting grid.

Circleville's high school cage team stumbled to its 16th defeat of the season, 74-53, at Miami Trace Friday.

Except for a few minutes of the first half, the Tigers were never in the lead, as Miami Trace gained its sixth league victory against two losses.

Trace is deadlocked for second place in the league with Greenfield. Circleville is in last place in the league with an 0-8 record.

Circleville scored first in last night's game when Rick Congrove sank a foul shot a minute and a half after the tilt started. Jeff Steel put the Tigers ahead, 3-2, a minute later, but the Tracers bounced right back with a bucket and were never behind again.

THE score at the end of the first period was 21-12 with Trace in front. By halftime they had built a 40-23 lead.

In the third quarter, Circleville was able to play on even terms with Trace, although an inability to hit from the field kept the Tigers from narrowing the margin separating the two teams.

When the last quarter began, Trace held a 56-38 lead. Miami Trace Coach Delmar Mowery substituted freely in the final quarter and his reserves rang up 18 points, compared to 15 for the Tigers.

Circleville Coach Chuck Hill also went to his bench frequently throughout the game, and as a result 10 of the 11 Tigers who dressed for the varsity game scored.

Jeff Steele was Circleville's high point man with 17 markers. The senior forward converted eight of 15 field goal attempts and was one for one at the foul line.

Dave Horst scored nine points for the Tigers, seven of them at the charity stripe, and Ty Ankrom notched eight.

OTHER Circleville cagers breaking into the scoring column were Phil Diehl and Gene Dyke with four each, Charlie Jackson and Rick Congrove with three each, Dave Hopkins and Mike Neal with two each and George Hill with one. Only Mark Downing failed to get the ball through the hoop.

As a team, the Tigers canned 15 of 48 field goal attempts, a 31 per cent shooting average. At the foul line, they sank 23 of 40 shots, a 57 per cent mark.

Circleville had 21 rebounds and 36 turnovers in the tilt.

Miami Trace, led by Bob Thornberry's 19 points, hit 31 of 47 field goal attempts, a 65 per cent average. At the foul line they sank 12 of 27 chances, 48 per cent.

The taller Trace quintet hauled 36 rebounds off the boards and committed only 14 turnovers.

CHS '5' Stumbles To 16th Defeat

Paces 81-56 Win

By HERB AMEY

A balanced scoring attack by the Westfall Mustangs handed them a 81-56 victory over Fairbanks of Union County Friday in the Mustangs' gym.

Six Mustangs, paced by Charlie Palmer's 16 markers, broke into double figures in scoring. Gene Carfrey flipped in 12 points. Tony Lightie, Andy Hamman and Ed Cornwell had 11 each and Denny Fletcher added 10.

The Fairbanks Panthers topped Westfall two weeks ago, 45-43, on their home floor in a defensive battle. Last night's tilt was slowed down by fouls and turnovers.

Westfall grabbed the early lead and fought to hold it throughout the first period. Big Tony Lightie, Westfall's 6-4 pivot man, was saddled with three personal fouls in the first eight minutes and was taken from the lineup.

BOTH teams were in the one and one foul shot situation with only five minutes gone in the opening period. The Mustangs held on to their lead and the score at the first period buzzer was 18-15.

The Mustangs shot 12 foul shots during the period, hitting on eight. Fairbanks sank 13 of 15 from the charity line. They made only one field goal in nine attempts, while Westfall made half of their 10 shots.

During the second period the Mustangs stretched their lead to 11 markers. Fairbanks brought it down to only a five point spread with two minutes left. But last minute foul shooting boosted the score to 39-28 before the half ended.

Westfall took 30 shots from the floor during the half, hitting on 13. From the foul stripe the Mustangs had 19 chances, connecting on 13.

Fairbanks took only 20 field goal attempts during the first 16 minutes, canning six. They visited the charity stripe 20 times, cashing in on 16.

The taller Mustangs out rebounded Fairbanks, 15-9, in the first half. Turnovers plagued both teams. Westfall showed nine and the Panthers, 11.

CHARLIE Palmer showed the way in the third canto, tossing in nine of his 16 markers. The Mustangs canned nine of their 18 field goal attempts while pulling away to a 59-40 bulge.

Again both teams entered the one and one situation early, Westfall with 3:04 on the clock and Fairbanks four seconds later. During the final eight minutes, Westfall outscored Fairbanks, 22-16.

For the game, Westfall took 69 shots from the floor, hitting on 29. They had 36 trips to the foul line and made good on 23.

Fairbanks, unable to work the ball in effectively against Westfall's tight man to man defense, took only 41 shots the entire game, making 14. They shot 40 times from the charity line, sinking 28.

Westfall grabbed 33 rebounds in the tilt, compared with 21 for the Panthers. Fairbanks committed 20 turnovers while the Mustangs had 14.

Palmer hit his 16 points on five of 12 shots from the field and six of eight free tosses. Carfrey came off the bench in the second period, sinking six of 11 field goals for 12 points.

LIGHTIE hit five of 12 field goals, adding a free toss. Hamman sank two field goals in the first period, misfiring on seven others and picking up seven of 10 foul shots. Cornwell swished six of eight shots from the floor and added one of four free throws. Fletcher sank three of nine field goals, connecting on four of seven charity tosses.

Frank Howard led all scorers, collecting 21 markers for the Panthers. In the first period he tossed in seven straight free throws. He missed three other attempts at the line but hit seven of 14 field goal attempts.

Cornwell was leading rebounder for the Mustangs, coming down with 10. Fletcher had six, Lightie five, Hamman four, Chuck Ward three and Jim Lett, Bob Barnes and Palmer one each.

The Mustangs now stand 12-3 in overall competition. They are 3-1 in Scioto Valley Conference play, tied for the lead with Logan Elm, Laurelville and Union.

Tonight Westfall battles Zane Trace on their home court. Next Friday they return to SVC action in a tilt with Laurelville on the Wildcats' court. Saturday ends cage play in the Mustang's regular season with a home clash featuring Piketon in a SVC battle.

The Mustang reserves rolled to a 75-46 win over Fairbanks in the preliminary tilt. Sophomore Greg Bigam tossed in 10 field goals and added 15 free throws for 35 points. Sophomore teammate Bill Blair added 15 on eight field goals.

Trio Leads Pacer Win Over N.J.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Freddie Lewis, Roger Brown and Jimmy Rayl hit a hot shooting streak for the Indiana Pacers in the American Basketball Association, there isn't much their opponents can do about it.

Take Friday night for example, when the Pacers beat the New Jersey Americans 113-103 at Teaneck, N.J.

The Americans were ahead 47-38 in the second quarter when Rayl went on his spree. He scored 14 of Indiana's next 16 points and the Pacers led 54-52 at the half. He didn't score the rest of the game.

Lewis and Brown went on their streaks in the last quarter after New Jersey had gone ahead 82-81 on Tony Jackson's three-point goal.

Art Heyman also came up with a hot hand in the last quarter and sparked the Pittsburgh Pipers to a home-court 112-105 victory over the Dallas Chaparrals. Heyman scored 37 points, 16 of them in the final period which included a three-pointer that put the Pipers ahead for good at 83-80. Cincy Powell was high for Dallas with 30.

The Kentucky Colonels trounced the Minnesota Muskies 120-94 and the New Orleans Buccaneers routed the Anaheim Amigos 128-101 in the other scheduled ABA games.

Chamberlain Leads 76ers Over Detroit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain has etched his magical name into the record books again. But the chances are you'd never guess for what.

It's for assists, not points, this time.

Chamberlain, the record-cracking scoring giant of the Philadelphia 76ers, has switched more to playmaking in his later, vintage years. And he handed out 21 assists—a club record—in pacing the 76ers to a 131-121 National Basketball Association victory over Detroit Friday night.

The mark also was a high for the NBA this year. The all-time mark is jointly held by Bob Cousy and Guy Rodgers, each with 28.

In other NBA action, Boston drubbed Baltimore 120-99; Los Angeles smothered Seattle 151-133; Cincinnati topped Chicago 125-113 and San Francisco downed San Diego 127-121.

New Mexico has developed into the most surprising team of the college basketball season.

The Lobos of Coach Bob King were picked to finish last in the Western Athletic Conference, but today they boast an unbeaten record, are first in the WAC and fourth-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll.

They chalked up their 17th straight Friday night by coming from behind for a 68-62 road victory over Arizona State at Tempe.

Ron Nelson, the only returning regular from last season, sparked a second half rally in which the Lobos erased a seven-point deficit with nine minutes left.

Nelson was high scorer with 22 points, eight of them jammed into a two-minute span down the stretch that put the Lobos ahead to stay.

"We felt very fortunate in winning," King said afterwards. "We felt Arizona State was up for this one and played an excellent game. We also felt our Tonight, Teays Valley hosts Logan Elm in a clash that promises to fill the spacious Viking gymnasium with fans. Logan Elm was idle Friday.

The Viking reserve squad virtually wrapped up the junior varsity title in the league with a 69-52 victory over the visitors. Rick Pontious came off the bench to score 13 points for the little Vikings. Rick Teets had 11 and Keith Reese 12.

In other Metro league action, Pleasant View romped to a 73-39 victory over Franklin Heights with Ronnie Salyers' 13 points the top effort for the PV Panthers. Tommy Smith had 15 for the Falcons, who made only six field goals during the game, but added 27 at the charity stripe for their total.

PLEASANT View and Franklin Heights are former members of the South Central Ohio League.

Palmer, Weiskopf Tied In Bob Hope Golf Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — That man of golf, Arnold Palmer, was back knocking on the door Saturday in quest of his third victory in the $122,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Arnie moved out of the fringes of the early round leaders in the third round Friday and went into today's fourth round of the 90-hole marathon tied with young Tom Weiskopf at 209.

The 209 is seven strokes under par for the distance in an event which winds up Sunday. It was to be nationally televised (NBC) 4:30 p.m. EST.

Arnie shot a 67, five under par, Friday, the lowest round he's had in the new year. He won the Hope charity-raising tournament in 1960 and again in 1962.

Weiskopf, 26, from Marco Island, Fla., stroked a 68 to gain a position he held alone in the 1967 Hope affair.

Play is over four par 36-36—72 country club courses: Indian Wells—where both Palmer and Weiskopf played Friday—Eldorado, La Quinta and Bermuda Dunes.

Four professionals were tied at 210, one stroke behind the leaders—Bob McCallister, with a third round 68; Jay Brewer and Charles Coody, with 69s, and Bruce Devlin of Australia, with 72.

Billy Casper was knotted at 211 and but for a bum break might well be in a tie with the top two.

Ford Heads Daytona Race Lineup Today

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ford comes off a record qualifying speed to head the pack of 65 sports cars soaring away from the starting line at 3 p.m., EST, today in the 24 hours of the Daytona international road race, and it seems a familiar story.

But this is a new twist from the big-engined Detroit cars which put America in the forefront of world sports car racing in recent years.

The front row this time is filled with two GT40 Fords from England, a production automobile descended from the American Ford factory's original racing car four years back.

Jackie Ickx of Belgium drove the fastest of the twin light blue Fords and the fastest of all cars to a record qualifying speed of 119.37 miles per hour Friday. Paul Hawkins of Australia qualified its twin GT40 at 117.23.

Ickx, with a lap time of 1 minute, 54.91 seconds, beat the 1:55.1 and 1:19.165 m.p.h. record Dan Gurney established over the 3.81-mile course one year ago in the larger Ford Mark 2.

If the GT40 Fords have endurance to match their speed, they are the cars to beat. But Porsche remains the favorite over the long haul.

Always dependable at a distance, the German Porsche factory has added power and a little size under new international racing rules. Almost without trying, the sturdy Porsches qualified for third through sixth places on the starting grid.

Academies Join Boycott

NEW YORK (AP) — The three U.S. service academies have joined the boycott organized by Negro athletes of the New York Athletic Club track meet Feb. 16.

Now the question is whether the services themselves, particularly the strong U.S. Army team, will join it, too.

Alfred Fitt, an assistant secretary of defense, has written Marshall Brown of the Plainfield, N.J., NAACP, saying the three service academies will not compete in the meet because of alleged discriminatory membership policies practiced by the NYAC.

Princeton also made it eight straight by routing Cornell at Ithaca 71-51 and Wyoming also won on the road by beating Arizona 90-85 at Tucson.

In other games, all home court triumphs, Yale beat Dartmouth 77-70, Air Force downed California 81-79, Seattle took Weber State 76-65, Santa Clara whipped San Jose 82-64 and Northeastern defeated Colby 79-55 to give Coach Dick Dukeshire his 150th career victory.

Sieg scored 25 points on nine field goals and seven free throws. Bristley also had nine field goals, but had two less foul shots for a 23-point total.

Washington C. H. held a four point, 14-10 lead after the first period in their game with Hillsboro. They lost it at the half, 32-30, but spurred for a 44-39 third period lead.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Companies doing business with the government were warned today they'll lose their contracts if they practice religious discrimination in employment.

A memorandum from Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said in certain industries and companies "some religious groups, notably Jews, and to some extent Catholics, are still excluded from positions at certain levels of responsibility."

Wirtz reminded contractors that an Executive Order issued by the President in 1965 bans discrimination in employment by companies selling goods or services to the government.

The order applies also to businesses dealing indirectly with the government such as banks, as repositories of federal funds, and insurance companies playing a role in medicare.

Saxbe Speaks Against Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The young man who is out of line must be made to realize that society has rights and must be protected, Ohio Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe believes.

Saxbe, seeking the Republican nomination for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, made the comment at a news conference while here for a meeting of the National Association of Attorneys General.

He said he takes a harder line than President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark in ways to deal with crime in the streets.

Claim Some Reds Waiting Out Mao

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chinese Communists who want an economic renaissance in China frown on Mao Tse-tung's "adventurist" policies, says the last U.S. consul general to Peking.

O. Edmund Clubb told a news conference Friday: "China's policy today is Mao's policy, but Mao is not immortal."

Clubb was expelled from Red China in 1951, the last U.S. consular representative to leave. He said Mao's policy is viewed by the "organization men" as retardant to progress.

Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies are investigating two burglaries that occurred during the night.

Deputy James Lockard is conducting a probe of a breaking and entering of the Certified Service Station located north of Circleville on Route 23.

Entry into the building was made by forcing the front door. An estimated $75 was taken in addition to an undetermined amount of motor oil.

Deputy George Linder is investigating a theft that occurred at the Paul Goldhart general store in Commercial Point.

Entry again was gained through the front door. An undetermined amount of money, a radio, television set and several sets of tools were stolen according to information given to Deputy Linder.

The deputies do not believe the burglaries were connected.

rector of the command's combat operations center, said while the South Vietnamese forces are going after the Communists, U.S. Marines are in a blocking position and "it's just a matter of time. I would feel that within the next day or so we'll have Hue clear."

In the far north, Chasson said Communist forces with mortars and machine guns attacked a U.S. Marine headquarters at Cam Lo, 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone, "the center anchor along the DMZ line."

In a six-hour battle, seven Marines and 111 Communists were killed and 20 Americans wounded, he said. The Marines also reported capturing 43 suspected Communists.

At allied strongpoints along the demilitarized zone, Communist gunners fired more than 600 mortar, rocket and artillery rounds into U.S. Marine positions around Con Thien and another 36 rounds at Khe Sanh in the northwest corner of South Vietnam. Farther south, the enemy hit the U.S. air base at Da Nang with 40 rockets, the third attack in five days there.

The shelling in the north, by unofficial report, killed five Americans and wounded 25. One aircraft was reported destroyed, one moderately damaged and five lightly damaged.

Control Tower A Little Short

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A $600,000 control tower was built four years ago at Kansas City International Airport but it's 6 1/2 feet too short. So the city is going to spend $700,000 to build it 200 feet above the ground.

Workmen will start new footings and build new walls outside the present structure, like a sleeve. The airport will be bigger than originally planned. A Federal Aviation Administration official explained: "If we can't see all the runways, then the airport can't operate."

Scofflaws Hit By Magistrate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Irate over "scofflaws who are treating Traffic Court as a joke," Chief Magistrate John P. Walsh dished out a total of $4,803 in fines to 18 offenders and served up a jail sentence to one motorist who failed to answer a summons.

The magistrate said he was trying to emphasize the seriousness of illegal parking in midtown Philadelphia and cut down on those who fail to answer summonses.

GOPster Seeks 15th District Congress Seat

Chalmers Wyllie, Columbus, announced his GOP candidacy for the new 15th Congressional District Friday night during a meeting of the Pickaway County Republican Executive and Central Committees.

Wyllie is the only GOP candidate to announce his bid for the district office. The district includes Pickaway and Madison Counties and nearly one-half of Franklin County.

The GOP committees publicly endorsed Wyllie for the post. They also endorsed William Ammer for the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Darrell Hatfield is chairman of the executive committee and Ned Dresbach is central committee chairman.

Pickaway County, for the remainder of this year, is in the 6th Congressional District with William H. Harsha Jr. as representative.

Toastmasters Welcome Two New Members

The Circleville Toastmasters Club added two members to its roster during its weekly meeting Thursday at the L-K Restaurant.

Tom Fitzgerald and Jack Weikert are the new members of the local organization. Bob Ogden announced the youth leadership course will begin this month.

Sunday Racing Law Raises Storm

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Residents of this small horse racing community are irked by a racing-on-Sunday bill which has been passed by West Virginia's State Senate and is pending in the House of Delegates.

"We have a small community of about 4,000 people and we sort of like to keep the Sabbath Day holy," said Manning Smith, vice president of the Jefferson County Chamber of Commerce.

"Hardly anyone is for this except the track owners," said Smith.

Charles Town has two of West Virginia's four horse tracks, and racing is currently permitted 274 days of the year.

Police spread through six major coal-producing states from Pennsylvania to Tennessee, shutting down scores of mines and idling possibly 84,500 miners.

The Penn Central Railroad reported that its normal weekly coal-hauling tonnage had been cut in half since the strike started at midnight Sunday.

"Coal is the biggest item we carry, and at the present rate its down about 50 per cent," a Penn Central spokesman said.

Strike effects on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad have been minimal so far, a spokesman said, but if it spread to Western Kentucky the line would be hurting "pretty badly."

The railroads claim they lost millions of dollars during the last big coal strike in 1966 when about 60,000 miners stayed out of the pits for nearly three weeks. Miners struck throughout the industry in 1950 in seeking a new national works contract.

Dear Editor:

We wish to thank the teenage boys who stopped after our small toy Manchester was hit on East Franklin Street, Friday night and inquired for the little dog's owner.

It was so kind of them and had they not stopped, the dog who was lying in the street, would have been hit again and again. It was so dark you could hardly see him. Thanks to them the dog might be alright.

In our excitement to get the dog to the Veterinarian, we didn't ask the boys names, but they are surely fine examples of the teenage group and we want them to know we appreciate it.

Most of the kids today are just wonderful. Its too bad the trouble makers have to get all the publicity.

Price Support Loans Reach Record High

Corn and soybean producers are making record use of price-support loans in an effort to market in a more orderly manner and thus strengthen prices, according to latest available reports of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The report of price - support activity through December shows that a record 193.9 million bushels of 1967-crop corn and 158.3 million bushels of soybeans (the largest amount ever put under loan from any crop for an entire season) have been put under support.

The December corn total is nearly double the 110.5 million bushels reported through December 1966 and is the largest amount ever put under loan through December; it also reflects the largest corn loan activity recorded in December.

In noting the record use of price-support loans to strengthen farm prices through more orderly marketing, Secretary Freeman said that the corn loan activity clearly shows that participants in the feed grain program are taking positive steps to turn markets upward.

"Unfortunately in some sections of the country," he added, "participants' efforts are being offset by heavy marketing of corn not eligible for the loan program because those farmers did not participate in the 1967 feed grain program."

The secretary also noted that wheat loan activity continues heavy even though the wheat loan season is nearing the end. The 208.2 million bushels of 1967-crop wheat put under loan through December is nearly twice the 109.7 million bushels of the 1966-crop put under loan a year earlier.

Galen D. Mowery, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Pickaway County Committee, points out that real loans on 1967-crop wheat stored both on farms and in commercial warehouses — as well as on other important grains and soybeans — will be available this year at maturity time for original loans. These programs should substantially bolster farmers' efforts in working toward more orderly marketing.

'Picasso-Klatch' Used by Candidate

CHICAGO (AP) — Political hopeful Brian Duff has merged art and politics into a "Picasso-klatch," one of his devices for lining up voter support. Duff, of suburban Wilmette, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Illinois secretary of state. He shakes hands of visitors and art lovers as he stands by the giant Picasso sculpture beside the downtown Civic Center.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Companies doing business with the government were warned today they'll lose their contracts if they practice religious discrimination in employment.

A memorandum from Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said in certain industries and companies "some religious groups, notably Jews, and to some extent Catholics, are still excluded from positions at certain levels of responsibility."

Wirtz reminded contractors that an Executive Order issued by the President in 1965 bans discrimination in employment by companies selling goods or services to the government.

The order applies also to businesses dealing indirectly with the government such as banks, as repositories of federal funds, and insurance companies playing a role in medicare.

rector of the command's combat operations center, said while the South Vietnamese forces are going after the Communists, U.S. Marines are in a blocking position and "it's just a matter of time. I would feel that within the next day or so we'll have Hue clear."

In the far north, Chasson said Communist forces with mortars and machine guns attacked a U.S. Marine headquarters at Cam Lo, 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone, "the center anchor along the DMZ line."

In a six-hour battle, seven Marines and 111 Communists were killed and 20 Americans wounded, he said. The Marines also reported capturing 43 suspected Communists.

At allied strongpoints along the demilitarized zone, Communist gunners fired more than 600 mortar, rocket and artillery rounds into U.S. Marine positions around Con Thien and another 36 rounds at Khe Sanh in the northwest corner of South Vietnam. Farther south, the enemy hit the U.S. air base at Da Nang with 40 rockets, the third attack in five days there.

The shelling in the north, by unofficial report, killed five Americans and wounded 25. One aircraft was reported destroyed, one moderately damaged and five lightly damaged.

Control Tower A Little Short

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A $600,000 control tower was built four years ago at Kansas City International Airport but it's 61 1/2 feet too short. So the city is going to spend $700,000 to build it 200 feet above the ground.

Workmen will start new footings and build new walls outside the present structure, like a sleeve. The airport will be bigger than originally planned. A Federal Aviation Administration official explained: "If we can't see all the runways, then the airport can't operate."

The GOP committees publicly endorsed Wyllie for the post. They also endorsed William Ammer for the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Sunday Racing Law Raises Storm

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Residents of this small horse racing community are irked by a racing-on-Sunday bill which has been passed by West Virginia's State Senate and is pending in the House of Delegates.

"We have a small community of about 4,000 people and we sort of like to keep the Sabbath Day holy," said Manning Smith, vice president of the Jefferson County Chamber of Commerce. "Hardly anyone is for this except the track owners," said Smith.

Charles Town has two of West Virginia's four horse tracks, and racing is currently permitted 274 days of the year.

Police spread through six major coal-producing states from Pennsylvania to Tennessee, shutting down scores of mines and idling possibly 84,500 miners.

The Penn Central Railroad reported that its normal weekly coal-hauling tonnage had been cut in half since the strike started at midnight Sunday.

"Coal is the biggest item we carry, and at the present rate its down about 50 per cent," a Penn Central spokesman said.

Strike effects on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad have been minimal so far, a spokesman said, but if it spread to Western Kentucky the line would be hurting "pretty badly."

The railroads claim they lost millions of dollars during the last big coal strike in 1966 when about 60,000 miners stayed out of the pits for nearly three weeks. Miners struck throughout the industry in 1950 in seeking a new national works contract.

Steel companies and electric utilities, the biggest users of coal, said they had no immediate concern because of the present walkout. Most stockpile a 30- to 60-day reserve.

Some coal operators say they're mystified over the reasons for the strike which began when western Pennsylvania miners refused to work in protest of the use of 90 state troopers at a picket line at two non-union mines in Somerset County.

The United Mine Workers, trying to organize small, independent mines in western Pennsylvania, began picketing after officials of the Solar Fuel Co. refused to recognize the UMW as a bargaining agent for its miners.

Price Support Loans Reach Record High

Corn and soybean producers are making record use of price-support loans in an effort to market in a more orderly manner and thus strengthen prices, according to latest available reports of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The report of price - support activity through December shows that a record 193.9 million bushels of 1967-crop corn and 158.3 million bushels of soybeans (the largest amount ever put under loan from any crop for an entire season) have been put under support.

The December corn total is nearly double the 110.5 million bushels reported through December 1966 and is the largest amount ever put under loan through December; it also reflects the largest corn loan activity recorded in December.

In noting the record use of price-support loans to strengthen farm prices through orderly marketing, Secretary Freeman said that the corn loan activity clearly shows that participants in the feed grain program are taking positive steps to turn markets upward.

"Unfortunately in some sections of the country," he added, "participants' efforts are being offset by heavy marketing of corn not eligible for the loan program because those farmers did not participate in the 1967 feed grain program."

The secretary also noted that wheat loan activity continues heavy even though the wheat loan season is nearing the end. The 208.2 million bushels of 1967-crop wheat put under loan through December is nearly twice the 109.7 million bushels of the 1966-crop put under loan a year earlier.

Galen D. Mowery, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Pickaway County Committee, points out that real loans on 1967-crop wheat stored both on farms and in commercial warehouses — as well as on other important grains and soybeans — will be available this year at maturity time for original loans. These programs should substantially bolster farmers' efforts in working toward more orderly marketing.

'Picasso-Klatch' Used by Candidate

Duff, of suburban Wilmette, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Illinois secretary of state.
